CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT
Rockland, Maine, Oct. 15, 1918.
I, the undersigned, being the publisher of the above-named newspaper, do hereby certify that the circulation of the same for the week ending Oct. 11, 1918, was printed as follows: Total copies, 5,915. Before me,
J. W. CROCKER,
Notary Public.

"I pledge allegiance to my flag and to my country for which it stands, one nation indivisible with liberty and justice for all."

GERMANY MUST GIVE UP

Unconditional surrender!
That is the one opinion entertained by the citizens of this community, a community we believe to be representative of New England. To judge from the tone of the press, it is the opinion held throughout the entire country.

We were not asked to come into this war. Uncle Sam is not a quarrelsome person. But Germany has dragged him in, and now he will never quit until the unshakable brute of Europe has thrown up his bloody hands and bellowed for quarter. We do not believe the time is long, but long or short, the treasure of this country in men and money is pledged to the last fraction to ridding the world of the Hohenzollern and his bloody, bestial crew. The name of Germany is a stench in the nostrils of mankind. It is a synonym of all that is brutal, unlovely and vile. "The thing it stands for the decent nations of the world are dedicated to crushing and thank God that we of the United States are bound to them in that holy purpose with hooks of steel.

Unconditional surrender of Germany. That and nothing else.

THE SPLENDID RED CROSS

Red Cross is playing a great part locally in fighting the epidemic. Members of the organization are giving unselfishly of their time and strength, by day and night, at the headquarters and at home. In addition to other work, the women have been busy making gas masks, dish towels, holders, bed socks, stockings, etc., articles for which there is great need in the afflicted homes. Besides this, young women go into the homes where sickness has prostrated the inmates and busy themselves washing dishes, clearing the house and doing many services for the sick. Similar work by these helpful young women is done also at the Knox Hospital, washing dishes, arranging trays for the sick, helping in the wards, etc. Through the Home Service department soup and bread is furnished the sick in their homes. Here is shown in our midst what the Red Cross means in its thousand activities and how greatly it is entitled to the support of every citizen. And what an opportunity it offers for service.

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER WEEK

This the final week of the Fourth Liberty Loan drive and to it is given the name of Unconditional Surrender Week, arising out of the Hun's attempt to sidestep through the channels of stupid diplomacy the punishment that his misdeeds call for. All over the country are forming Unconditional Surrender Clubs, membership in which shall be constituted of persons who buy another Liberty Bond.

Word has come from the Boston office of the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee that throughout New England these clubs are to be organized and the Knox County Committee calls upon its organization in each town to take the matter in hand and form an Unconditional Surrender Club. Such a club is already started in Rockland and membership in it is enlarging rapidly.

Buy another bond and make the Hun surrender unconditionally.

BIG FISHERIES PLANT

Great Eastern Fisheries Corporation Leases the Messer Privilege and Buys the Crockett Property—Wharf To Be Built.

The Great Eastern Fisheries Corporation, which recently established a wholesale business in plant formerly occupied by the Rockland Fish Co. on Tillson wharf, is making arrangements greatly to increase its facilities, and eventually will become one of the largest fish concerns on the Atlantic coast.

The company has leased from the Rockland & Rockport Lime Co. the Messer privilege on Crockett's Point, including wharf and shed, and there is an option attached which embraces other properties.

The Great Eastern Fisheries Corporation has also bought a lot of Wharf street, which was owned by the Nathaniel Crockett heirs, and on which are now located three tenements and the Horton boat-shop. This property is bounded on the north by the Thorne & Hix plant, and on the south by the Lawrence Canning Co.'s sardine factory. It is planned to build a wharf from the Crockett property, and the municipal officers have a hearing on the petition at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Gilford B. Butler, chairman of the Local Draft Board, is confined to his home in South Thomaston with influenza.

GOOD OLD KNOX!

This County Has Oversubscribed Its Liberty Loan Quota and All But Three Towns Are Officially Over The Top.

A summary of the Liberty Loan drive in Knox county, compiled for The Courier-Gazette this morning by Arthur L. Orme, the county chairman, shows that all of the towns except Washington, Isle au Haut and Matineus have over-subscribed their quotas. Matineus, Mr. Orme learns unofficially, has already gone over the top, while Washington will probably have followed suit by the time the ink is dry on this statement. No official report has yet been received from Isle au Haut, but no one doubts that the newest Knox county town will come across. Here is the official standing:

	Quota	Pledged
Appleton	$7,400	$7,400
Camden	111,500	122,000

INVESTIGATING THE EPIDEMIC

Government Seeking An Effective Vaccine—Spread of Disease Is Nationwide.

In its fight to stop the spread of Spanish influenza the Public Health Service is investigating the cause of the disease, the conditions which promote its spread and the part played by carriers in epidemics of the malady. It also is seeking an effective vaccine, but announcement was made Friday that the service has as yet been unable to recommend any that it believes will be successful.

Meantime influenza continues to spread over the country in spite of the strenuous efforts and drastic measures taken to prevent it. The malady now has reached epidemic proportions in many additional cities in the middle and far West.

The total of influenza cases reported at army camps since the disease first appeared had on Friday reached 211,000; pneumonia cases, 25,083, and deaths, 7,342.

MARY ELLEN SULLIVAN

Miss Mary Ellen Sullivan died at her home, 32 Berkeley street, early Sunday morning of influenza, which she contracted while acting as nurse for her brother Daniel Sullivan, who is now convalescing from that disease. The funeral services were held at St. Bernard's church this morning, Rev. Fr. J. Warren officiating. The bearers were William Sweeney, Edward Egan, Nicholas T. Murray and James Costello.

The deceased was a daughter of the late Timothy and Mary Sullivan, both of whom have died within a comparatively brief period. Since that bereavement the daughter had presided over the household, bestowing upon the other members of the family all the care and devotion that a mother could have given. She was a member of St. Bernard's church and its faithful auxiliary, the Ladies of Columbus, a faithful and valuable worker in both. She is survived by two brothers, Stephen T. and Daniel Sullivan, and one sister, Margaret A. Sullivan.

"PAT" FRENCH INSTRUCTOR

"Pat" French, former University of Maine track star, foot ball and base ball player, is to be ordered back to his old home town, this time as one of the chief petty officer instructors in the naval unit. French was stationed at Rockland for some time but of late has been in Boston from which station he will be ordered to Orono. He is now chief boatswain's mate.

GROCERS SIGNING PLEDGE

Every retail grocer in the United States will be asked this week to sign a pledge to conform to the rules and regulations of the food administration and to co-operate in the enormous food saving program necessary if America is to fulfill its obligation to its associates in the war and to European neutrals.

PRESIDENT'S PEACE TERMS

The Fourteen Conditions With Which Central Powers Must Comply.

There is much talk nowadays about President Wilson's 14 peace conditions, which he specified in his address to Congress Jan. 8, and the possibility of their acceptance by the Central Powers. Do you know what those 14 conditions are? If not read them here so you can answer intelligently when your neighbor asks you:

1. Open covenants of peace, no private international understandings of any kind.
2. Absolute freedom of navigation upon the seas, outside territorial waters, in peace and in war, except as closed in whole or in part by international action to enforce international covenants.
3. Removal of all economic barriers and establishment of equality of trade conditions among all Nations consenting to the peace and associated for its maintenance.
4. Adequate guarantees that National armaments will be reduced.
5. A free open-minded and absolutely impartial adjustment of all colonial claims based upon the interests of the population concerned and the equitable claims of the Government.
6. Evacuation of all Russian territory and such settlement of all questions affecting Russia as will secure the best and freest cooperation of the other Nations of the world in obtaining for her unhampered and unembarrassed opportunity for independent determination of her own political development and National policy.
7. Belgium must be evacuated and restored, without any attempt to limit her sovereignty.
8. All French territory should be freed and the invaded portions restored, and the wrong done to France by Prussia in 1871 in the matter of Alsace-Lorraine should be righted.
9. A readjustment of the frontiers of Italy should be effected along clearly recognized lines of nationality.
10. The peoples of Austria-Hungary should be accorded the freest opportunity of autonomous development.
11. Rumania, Serbia, etc., should be evacuated; occupied territories restored, Serbia accorded free access to the sea, and the relations of the several Balkan States to one another determined along historically established lines.
12. The Turkish portions of the Ottoman Empire should be assured a secure sovereignty but the other nationalities now under Turkish rule should be assured an unhampered security of life and unmolested development of their autonomous development.
13. An independent Polish State should be erected which should include the territories inhabited by indisputably Polish populations, which should be assured a free and secure access to the sea.
14. A general association of Nations must be formed to afford mutual guarantee of political independence and territorial integrity to great and small States alike.

TELEPHONE GIRLS IN FRANCE

They Are Given the Best of Care and Are Doing Important Work.

Units of telephone girls who have sailed the seas recently that the American Army may hear its "hellos" in real America, have been met everywhere by their American sisters already at work in France. Before the arrival of the first group of women telephone operators for service with the Army, the Signal Corps officers in charge called on the Y. W. C. A. in Paris for assistance in the housing and care of the girls.

One of the telephone girls from Maine who went in a recent unit is the daughter of a French family residing in Westbrook. In the family were no sons and the parents, who realized the supreme sacrifice and the unflinching courage of their fellow-countrymen across the sea, only wished they had a son to send from America to help in the great common world cause of liberty. The girl of the family stood it as long as she could and then said to her parents: "I'll be your son and I'll go to help in making the world safe for democracy. I can't fight, but I can work."

This girl, Ruth Couturier, is now in France with the telephone operators and is one of the Maine girls who was taken care of at the Hotel Petrograd, which is the woman's hotel in Paris run by the Y. W. C. A. Miss Christine Bickford of Rockland is another Maine girl who answered the call and is now across.

COLDS AND INFLUENZA ALIKE

A Difference of Degree, Not of Kind, Says Dr. Gould of Camden.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:
The Bangor News of Oct. 12 said: "Truly conflicting statements and opinions of health officials and private practitioners of medicine concerning the grip situation in Bangor, as expressed on Friday, must leave the public in a decidedly confused frame of mind as to actual conditions."

There was an astonishing jump from "a few new cases" to 357 reported by seven physicians in 24 hours. So the News pertinently remarks: "The question is, How many of the cases reported are well developed cases of grip, or influenza, and how many plain colds, such as always are prevalent at this time of the year?"

As a matter of fact there is no difference in kind between a plain cold and "Spanish" influenza. The difference is in degree only, not in kind. Whether one has a simple cold or "Spanish" influenza is a personal matter. It is due to the susceptibility of the infected individual to the invading organism that makes an infection possible. The infection does not become established because there is an overdose of the invading organisms but because the small number of organisms which establish themselves are of a virulent type at the expense of the invaded tissues.

The bacteriologic cause of Spanish influenza still is a matter of dispute. The prevailing opinion in Europe is that the bacillus of Pfeiffer (influenza bacillus) is at least a factor in the majority of cases, but in many instances observers have failed to find this organism at all. Some ascribe the disease to the pneumococcus, others to the micrococcus catarrhalis, still others to streptococci, while not a few believe it to be a mixed infection.

Whether, indeed, the bacteria associated with this disease and with pneumonia is only a concomitant, not a real cause, has been seriously contended by a very respectable element in the medical profession. It has long been known that pneumonia, and other germs inhabit the mouths of healthy people practically all the time.

Whether the cause is one out of many things, or many things combined, treatment should aim at remedying disturbed physiological conditions, whether of a simple cold or virulent influenza. The therapeutics of both is fundamentally the same, but strange as it may seem no definite method of treatment for these cases has been adopted by the medical profession as a whole. This seems an amazing statement, though true. The daily death reports testify patently to the great need of efficient treatment; most assuredly rational treatment is successful.

The generally circulated statement that influenza is a contagious disease, spread by contact or direct association, is misleading and most vicious. There is absolutely no foundation in fact for the statement. Contrariwise, the germ or germs associated with the disease are practically everywhere distributed. Of course, where there are numbers of people cases will be more numerous. Crowded sections of the cities and unsanitary conditions conduce to the prevalence of acute infectious diseases, as is well known. One catches the cold and influenza in the same way, and the usual precautions apply to both. Likewise the treatment of influenza is like unto the treatment of a cold, only there is more to it as required.

Elmer F. Gould, M. D., Camden, Oct. 14.

When the Baptist church is finally reopened some of the parishioners may need an introduction to it. The new colors in which the building is being painted makes quite a change.

Considerable excitement was caused at the North End Saturday when engine No. 3 of the L. R. R. Co. left the iron while making a run on the Crockett roof, with a train of coal.

J. O. Packard requests that the gunners refrain from cutting his wire fence in the middle of the schoolches and cut it close to the posts, but they better not let him see them cutting it.

W. Raymond Erskine, proprietor of the Star pool room, is back on the job after a month's illness which confined him to the house. The joint debates with his old friend Jimmy have been resumed.

When Sanford K. Hatch planted his war garden last spring he threw in a few pumpkin seeds for luck. Up to date he has harvested 140 pie pumpkins and nobody knows how many more there are on the vines.

George W. Bachelder, who drove John Brown to victory at the Damariscotta fair, is somewhat wrought over Editor Sawyer's version of that race, and desires to waive $200 with the latter that John Brown can put Robert W. out of commission on a neutral track.

The city has re-laid the brick sidewalk on the eastern side of Main street between the Street Railway office and the Courier-Gazette office. In the rainy season and especially during the winter storms, it was the worst stretch of permanent sidewalk in Rockland, and Commissioner Hoss did a good job when he got rid of the nuisance.

A garden party with 20 participants, proved to be a very pleasant affair at the Crescent Beach House Friday night. The Smiths served a combination chicken and fish dinner which was devoured with much zest and appreciation. The remainder of the evening was devoted to cards. It is planned to have a similar gathering before the hotel closes for the season about Nov. 1st.

The services of a priest were desired at Stoughton Saturday forenoon but it was impossible to hire a tugboat or any other craft that would bring him from Rockland speedily. In this emergency Rev. Kild, commanding officer at the Naval Training Station, placed one of the Coast Patrol boats at the disposal of the parties and Fr. Giovanni was taken to Stoughton in that manner. The patient, Leo Curley, improved during the day.

Elmer S. Bird, Ernest C. Davis and Raymond S. Bird returned last week from their Moosehead expedition, bringing a buck and a doe, which Raymond brought down with a double shot in the last hour of the last day of the hunting trip. With the Rockland hunters was Mr. Johnson of the American Sugar Refining Co. Headquarters was established at Rockad-jay, which is about eight miles from Lily Bay, Moosehead Lake. Every moment of the week's stay was a source of enjoyment to the hunters, and the incident cases of "duck fever" did not develop into a serious stage. There was a considerable snowfall one day, and the summit of Mt. Katahdin was while during their stay.

A doctor and nurse sent by the State were in the city yesterday on their way to North Haven to assist in caring for the epidemic patients. They received Red Cross equipment while here.

On the theory that exercise in the open air is a good way to combat the epidemic 25 Naval Reserves went on a hike to Mirror Lake Sunday. A walk at this season of the year is better than pale pills for pink people, anyhow.

Five postoffice clerks and carriers are off duty on account of sickness. Every effort is being made to keep the service as near the usual standard as possible, but the public should understand that it is being done under a great handicap.

Jonathan S. Gardner has a contract at road-building at Boothbay Harbor and is now on the work, accompanied by John Sherer. Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Sherer are with their husbands. The party will be gone from Rockland probably until the ground freezes too hard to work.

There was a tremendous demand for the Sunday newspapers, as a result of Germany's reply and the Saturday night celebration. The supply was sold at the counters in less time than it takes to write about it, and people in the residential districts were grievously disappointed in not receiving the customary visit from their newsboy. There is also a sharp demand for the week-day editions. You can help yourself and your newsdealer by asking to have your favorite paper saved each day.

In response to many inquiries as to when the Littlefield flour mill will be started explanation is made that the machinery has been ready for shipment some time, but that the manufacturers have been unable to get men to install it. This is very disappointing to Mr. Littlefield, who is in hopes to have the mill in operation at an early date. A large amount of wheat was raised in Knox county and contiguous territory but some of it was considerably damaged by the recent storms.

Col. E. K. Gould is home from Baltimore, where he attended the General Grand Council of Masons, as deputy grand master from Maine. This state was also represented by Grand Master Thomas H. Dodge of Augusta and three members of the Grand Chapter, Clifford J. Patten of Belfast, grand high priest; Fred C. Chalmers of Bangor, grand king; and W. Scott Shorey of Bath, grand scribe. All of the States were represented, the total number of delegates present being about 500. Col. Gould paid visits to Washington, Philadelphia, New York and West Point and found much to interest him in the course of a week's travels.

The local physicians and other interested parties will meet in the aldermen's room tonight to discuss the matter of establishing an emergency hospital where influenza patients may be cared for. Lack of nurses is the greatest handicap at present. Many patients are not receiving proper attention in their homes, for the reason that whole families are sick and doctors are too busy to visit remote sections. If the patients could be concentrated it would be much easier for the limited staff of nurses and doctors to care for them. The Red Cross gladly offers to co-operate in the matter of an emergency hospital. There are now about 450 cases of sickness in Rockland, some of them quite serious ones. Recoveries about an equal the new cases, however, and the epidemic has probably reached its height.

Why We Must Buy Liberty Bonds

By Hazel Winslow, Senior English, Rockland High School—first prize, $31

America is a word which signifies much, the name of a nation supreme in strength, equality and progress; a place where liberty and justice may be chosen to their full extent. America is our country, the light of the world toward which all nations now engaged in this bloody conflict are stretching out their hands for salvation. She is the one hope left for the world.

She is the one nation that has brought to freedom. Fighting with all their might the German people, by savagery and cruelty seek to become the rulers of the universe. They have crushed out the life of many nations thereby revealing their cowardly nature and the barbarism of the foe against whom we are marching our strength. How are we to win? We are to win by saving Germany's hideous crimes? Will we be weak and indifferent or will we to our very utmost individually answer her call? Our loyalty or fidelity will be proven by the outcome of the Fourth Liberty Loan.

To be of any use in the war at all, our own country must be thoroughly protected and cared for. The system which has taken root in this country must be done away with so that there will be no weakened link in our government. Our soldiers sent to all parts of Europe must be clothed and fed, ammunition must be procured for them and all possible care taken of them. All this will take money, money which our government has not but which her citizens must raise for her.

Compare France and America today! That should make us realize the significance of her dead, is a horrible example of modern warfare. Her broad fields are devoid of vegetation, her homes are destroyed and her people refugees. What a contrast to our own peaceful and happy land, our abundant resources and thriving citizens. The war is taking place in America. It is in Europe—in France. Therein lies the difference. The pictures and tales of France that make us shudder with horror need not be true of America, if we will only look our country over.

The supreme wish in every true American heart today is to win the war quickly and thoroughly. We are all willing to abide by our country's wishes, willing to sacrifice all we have at her command. Our boys who have died have not died in vain for we are still behind them. We are still pushing on the cause for which they gave their last full measure of devotion—"that the government of the people for the people and by the people shall not perish from the earth."

Why We Must Buy Bonds

By Annie Bartholomew, Senior English, Rockland High School—second prize, $21

There never was a war like this before in all the world. We are determined that there shall never be another. To carry out this determination each and everyone must do his bit. Some are giving their lives, or their ability, and the least that we can do who remain at home is to loan our money at good interest. Every dollar that we loan buys bullets, food and clothing for our fathers and our brothers. They must have proper clothing, substantial food and comforts in sanitary camps in order to win this great struggle. When we loan our money to the government we loan it to ourselves. We are not fighting for the government we are fighting for our liberty, our homes and our future.

Not only do our men require money, but the children in France are needing our assistance. The total number of helpless children is six hundred thousand, of which four hundred thousand are being cared for by the French government and the remaining two hundred thousand must be provided for by the Americans.

Every village in Belgium and France is ravaged, every soul looks empty as if it had been trampled down with its home. How much would you give to keep your villages and towns from devastation? The worn out half starved children are terrified when they hear merely the word German and must not come out and last long. In one of the colonies were fifty Belgian boys so crushed by suffering that they were always silent, like aged broken hearted men. They never talked, never indulged in boyish sports and never made the least noise. They were so quiet that a French woman who lived next door came in to see what was wrong. Within three months she made another visit, but this time to protest that the boys' noise was unendurable. How were these boys changed? By means of money. Without money this could never be accomplished. Hundred thousand dollars to fire a large gun once costs one thousand dollars. Where is all this money coming from? You are Americans! You are free! In an endeavor to spread information and to stimulate interest in the Fourth Liberty Bond sale, the Maine Woman's committee offered several prizes in Trial Stamps to school children for their minute essays, speeches, in Knox county the high schools of Rockland and Rockport entered. CELEBRATED PEACE NEWS

Rang the Bells and Sounded Horns When Germany's Reply Was Received.

Rockland in common with many other cities and communities of New England got in its victory celebration good and early. If its joy-bells have failed to usher in an immediate peace, at least they heralded the Hun's admission that he is licked and that peace is on the way.

At about 10 o'clock Saturday night word came to H. N. McDougall from Portland by telephone that the Associated Press had given out word from Washington that Germany had accepted President Wilson's peace proposals, agreeing to evacuate invaded territory, and that Portland was celebrating the news as heralding peace. Mr. McDougall immediately notified Postmaster Donohue, who called up Portland to authenticate the news and was told that it had been verified from Washington. Meantime this despatch had been received from its Portland correspondent and made public by The Courier-Gazette.

Text of note at Washington says Germany agrees to terms of peace as laid down by Wilson and will evacuate all invaded territories.

Postmaster Donohue at once arranged for ringing the church bells, which soon were arousing citizens from beds and bath-tubs. Main street quickly filled with people and automobiles, fireworks were brought out, a band was improvised and for an hour or two things were doing. If the present negotiations fail to head up into definite peace, Rockland will have opportunity to celebrate again later when the Hun has been licked to such a frazzle that he will be glad to give in this unconditional surrender.

They're in to Win

Fair targets, every one of these men, for the German riflemen and machine gunners hidden behind the parapet.

But they are not thinking of the bullets whizzing past them; of the shells bursting over their heads.

They are intent on one thing—to scale that bank, take the bridge head and win the day.

And these men are made of the same stuff as all true Americans who read these words.

If we are the same stuff, let us prove it. Let us get into the fight as they do—to the limit—for Victory!

ELEVEN-THOUSAND MARK

Has Been Reached By the Shipping Board's Training School—Conditions On Board of the Ships Have Been Strikingly Changed.

The problem of finding American officers for the vast new Merchant Marine of the country has been solved, the Shipping Board states. The number of Americans skilled in seamanship and competent to serve as deck officers, or having mechanical knowledge fitting them to become marine engineers who have come forward in response to the board's calls for officers, has astonished the most sanguine prophet in the Shipping Board's recruiting service.

In anticipation of the demands for officers for the new merchant fleet, this service began training officers in June 1917, at navigation and engineering schools established for the purpose. The goal of the service was then to secure 10,000 students for these schools in 18 months. This week the total reached 11,000. The present attendance at the schools is 10,212 students. The engineering schools lead with 865 and the navigation schools are coming strong with 797. There are 22 of the schools.

Applications for attendance at these schools have come from all sections of the country, from Alaska, the Far East, Hawaii and the Canal Zone. Those from the latter place have been equal to the attendance at some of the schools. A majority of the applicants, and all the students accepted, are American citizens. The Shipping Board is encouraged by the character of the men taking its special training courses to believe that a great majority of them will remain in the Merchant Marine after the war, making seamanship their career. The success of these schools is considered one of the most encouraging features of the present development of the merchant service.

The Flavor Lasts

Today all that is changed. The change is just as marked in the matter of quarters as in regard to fare. Fresh food comes to the table at every meal, thanks to modern refrigeration methods, and the captain and other officers of a modern vessel have room enough to live like men.

Comfortable Quarters Now

In all the vessels being built for the great Emergency fleet, simplicity of living quarters is imposed by war conditions; yet these quarters would appear palatial to the early American sailing ship sailor.

On a 5000 ton freighter—this being a moderate sized vessel as freighters go—the captain has his own cabin on the lower bridge, reached from below by a gangway from the bridge deck. His bedroom has a liberal, built-in bunk with chest of drawers beneath, or in some ships a brass bed. Off this is a bathroom with porcelain tub and toilet. The captain also has an office, with table, arm chairs and roll top desk, where he conducts the ship's business, and receives visitors.

These quarters are steam-heated, against winter's cold, and have screens and fans if the ship is running into southern waters. They are finished in hard wood.

It will be seen that the captain of today therefore is very comfortably housed. As to his meals, he may exercise the privilege of having them served in his quarters, or he may mess with the other officers.

The first mate shares the main deckhouse with the captain, having a room directly under the bridge. This is often 12 feet square, with white-iron or brass bed, built-in couch with drawers under it, and ample clothes lockers and shelf space. The mate usually also has a private bath.

The second and third mates and each of the engineers have a good sized stateroom, with a common bathroom for each rating.

In the main deckhouse is the dining saloon or messroom. Here the officers from eight to ten in number, have their meals. On the new ships this is a bright and cheerful room, finished in oak or some other hard wood varnished, having a sideboard and leather-upholstered chairs and lockers.

Engine-room and deck officers share the mess, and usually there are enough topics of conversation of common interest to serve as a vehicle for amiable social intercourse. On some ships a "canned music" machine is carried in the messroom, for the entertainment in leisure hours "off watch."

Voyages Are Shorter

Nor is the modern officer better off than his progenitor in the matter of living alone. He works under better conditions. Steam has reduced the lengths of voyages so that he is no longer months at sea without a port to break the monotony.

There is no longer the element of chance, due to the caprice of wind and wave to make the duration of his voyage uncertain. Modern steamers run almost on railroad schedules, and the manner of today can tell within a day or two when he leaves Liverpool as to the hour of his release on leave for a trip to "see the folks" at New York or Boston or Philadelphia.

Furthermore, there is none of the hard, manhandling work of driving a ship by the winds alone, and handling pitching and sailing that existed on the romantic, but unstable, sailing ship. Nowadays so many revolutions of the screw produce so many miles made good on the course, while navigation under these conditions becomes a matter of scientific precision.

For this reason the Shipping Board, in training new deck officers, lays stress on scientific knowledge of navigation. If a student is not thoroughly familiar with steamship practice, he is sent to sea, after a term of six weeks at the Shipping Board school, for two months or so as a special, junior officer, to see how the regular officers do their work.

After he has been shown sufficiently, and is capable of taking sights and working up his position therefrom, he is taken on as a mate. In the "good old days" such efficiency methods in training officers were unknown.

Work of Officers At Sea

The duties of the various officers in navigating a steamer are clearly defined by years of custom. The captain, or "old man" as he is usually termed makes observations of his own to determine the position of the ship, checks up the navigation work of the mates, and gives the orders as to the courses to be steered.

The first mate usually includes observations of the stars, or "star work," as well as morning and evening sights of the sun, in his stint. The second mate also takes morning observations and works up the noon positions, which are checked by the captain. So also does the third mate.

With four experienced navigators making observations, using different sextants, there is little chance for error in determining the ship's position; hence a precision of result is obtained that fits perfectly into the modern idea of seagoing efficiency on which the new Merchant Marine is operated.

If urinary troubles set in,
Perhaps your kidneys are "in a bad way."

Wilson, 78 Chestnut street, Camden, Maine, says: "I had been suffering from kidney complaint and had pains across my back. This made me miserable and I could hardly get about to attend to my housework. I had puffy sacs beneath my eyes and was often dizzy, and black specks came before me. My kidneys didn't act as they should and as Doan's Kidney Pills had always been used in the family with good results, I tried them. Save Yourself From Influenza

If you are "run down" or out of condition, if sluggish bowels have allowed poisonous impurities to accumulate in your system, you are certain to suffer severely with the grip. Dr. True's Elixir, the famous household remedy of 47 years' reputation, will ward off the grip entirely or make an attack light and easily thrown off. Why? Because Dr. True's Elixir is a vegetable tonic that puts the system in good condition, prevents and relieves constipation, stimulates the appetite and strengthens the digestive powers. It can do no harm because it contains no mineral drugs. All purely vegetable. A tonic—not a stimulant. No reaction. Ask your druggist for it, or write Dr. J. F. True & Co., Auburn, Me.

CLIFFORD C. BRASIER

The first death from influenza among the Naval Reserves of the Rockland section took place at Knox Hospital yesterday afternoon, when Clifford C. Brasier of Thomaston died of the disease after a brave struggle. Mr. Brasier was a third-class quartermaster on the U. S. S. Valdez.

He contracted a severe cold and was removed to the temporary hospital at Y. M. C. A. His condition improved momentarily but a relapse followed and last Thursday he was removed to Knox Hospital. Everything possible was done for him, and members of the family were with him to the last.

Mr. Brasier was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Brasier of Thomaston, and nearly 24 years of age. He was distinguished as an athlete while in Thomaston High School and as "Rube" Brasier was the idol of the baseball fans. After leaving school he worked a while for M. E. Webster. He then went to Boston, where he was first employed by the Massachusetts Rubber Co., and later by the Sawyer Oil Co. of Cambridge. He enrolled in the Naval Reserve Force last November. The popularity which he had earned in his school days followed him in this organization.

Mr. Brasier is survived by his parents, five brothers—Rodney E. of the Army, who was recently ordered to Rockland for duty with the Local Draft Board; Maynard J., who is with the American Expeditionary Force in France; Clarence O., who is in Humphreys, Va.; and William and Arthur of Thomaston; one sister, Doris Brasier of Thomaston. The funeral services this afternoon will be held at the Brasier home, 10 Brookline Heights, Thomaston, and Rev. H. B. Hutchins will officiate. Full Naval honors will be paid.

ARTHUR W. WITHAM

Arthur W. Witham, who went to Westfield, Mass., with the Milliken Regiment, and who was honorably discharged there on account of physical ailments, died at Knox Hospital Saturday afternoon after two weeks' illness of pneumonia. He had been employed as driver by M. B. & C. O. Perry, and at the time his fatal illness began had a similar employment with Fred R. Spear. The deceased was 29 years of age, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford B. Witham. He was universally liked by his associates, who found him always cheerful and willing to do his part. He is survived by one brother, Clayton of Rockland, and two sisters Mrs. A. J. Richardson of Glen Cove and Mrs. Albert Lygajoy of Rockland. The funeral services will be held in St. Peter's church at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and will be private.

J. HOOPER PRESCOTT

Funeral services were held at Burpee's undertaking rooms yesterday afternoon for Jeremiah Hooper Prescott, who died in Providence last Saturday. The deceased was born in this city March 20, 1888, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Washington R. Prescott. The family removed to Providence during his boyhood, and for the past seven or eight years he had been employed as clerk in the Providence post office. He was stricken with influenza last Friday, and died in 40 hours from bronchial pneumonia. The deceased was a member of Calvary Baptist church, and a young man exceptionally fine character. He is survived by his wife and a daughter of 14 years, his parents, one brother, Reuel W. Prescott, and one sister Lucinda Hatch Prescott, who is a neo-woman awaiting call to duties in the Navy Department. The interment was in Acorn cemetery.

THE GALLANT SECOND MAINE

Editor of The Courier-Gazette: I want to tell you that the article in last Tuesday's issue of The Courier-Gazette telling the story of the 103d Regiment was "ever." I am going to save that article for future use in the history class in my school, as the 103d has surely made history during the past four months. That article alone is worth the price of a year's subscription!

MRS. F. O. BARTLETT

Stella M. (Wright) wife of Dr. F. O. Bartlett, died early yesterday morning at her home on Limerock street after 10 days' illness, pneumonia following an attack of influenza. She had been in poor health for a number of years from weak condition of the heart. The funeral services will be held at noon tomorrow and will be private. The burial will be in the Bartlett family lot at Hope.

The deceased was born in Washington Aug. 11, 1867, the daughter of Calvin and Esther Humes Wright. She was married to Dr. Bartlett in Washington 37 years ago, and they moved to Waldoboro, where Dr. Bartlett was in practice for a short time. They then resided in St. George nearly 18 years, since which time their home has been in Rockland. A very large acquaintance naturally followed, and all friends of the deceased were impressed by a strength of character which was yet gentleness itself. She was a woman of pronounced domestic tastes, and marked ability as an artist. The paintings of her home are hung with oil and water colors, and many of them were the creations of her native genius, for she had never received instruction. She was also very fond of reading with a penchant for historical works. She joined the order of Eastern Star while residing in St. George, being a member of Naomi Chapter at the time of her death.

WALDOBORO NURSE DIES

Miss Adelaide Hogue, one of the best known of the graduate nurses of the Augusta General hospital, died Sunday at that institution after about a week's illness from pneumonia which developed from influenza. Miss Hogue was one of the Augusta nurses who responded to the call for aid for quarantine naturally followed, and all friends of the deceased were impressed by a strength of character which was yet gentleness itself. She was a woman of pronounced domestic tastes, and marked ability as an artist. The paintings of her home are hung with oil and water colors, and many of them were the creations of her native genius, for she had never received instruction. She was also very fond of reading with a penchant for historical works. She joined the order of East-tion in 1912, since which time she has practiced her profession, making her home when not engaged on cases with the family of E. P. Hewitt on Gannett street. She was a young woman of lovable disposition and during her residence in Augusta made many friends. The remains will be taken on the 6:15 train Tuesday morning to Waldoboro, where services will be held at noon in the family lot in the Benner cemetery.—Kennebec Journal.

Ice Boxes on Wheels

Refrigerator cars for carrying meat are ice boxes traveling on wheels.

Most people in America would have to go without fresh meat, or would have to pay more for what they could get, if it were not for these traveling ice boxes.

Gustavus F. Swift, the first Swift in the packing industry, saw the need of these traveling ice boxes before others.

He asked the railroads to build them. The railroads refused. They were equipped, and preferred to haul cattle rather than dressed beef.

So Gustavus F. Swift had to make the cars himself. The first one was a box car rigged up to hold ice. Now there are 7,000 Swift refrigerator cars. Each one is as fine an ice box as you have in your home.

Day and night, fair weather and foul, through heat and cold, these 7,000 cars go rolling up and down the country, keeping meat just right on its way to you.

Thus another phase of Swift & Company's activities has grown to meet a need no one else could or would supply, in a way that matched Swift & Company ideas of being useful.

When you see one of these Swift & Company cars in a train, or on a siding, you will be reminded of what is being done for you as the fruit of experience and a desire to serve.

DODGE BROTHERS FARMERS CAR

A car the farmer can depend upon for steady everyday low-cost service.

Designed by Dodge Brothers to pay its way on big or little farms.

A strong car on which the cost of running can be closely calculated in advance.

So sturdily built that he can be sure repair costs will be unusually low.

So light that gasoline and oil and tire costs can be gauged from month to month.

A car built by Dodge Brothers to yield returns, not to roll up expenses.

Built to give good service in its second year as well as in its first.

A car the farmer can buy with complete confidence for two reasons:

First, because Dodge Brothers build it, and because they have never built a poor car.

Second, because the car has always been known for its low gasoline and tire costs, and its remarkable freedom from repair.

A really profitable aid to the farmer who realizes that now—more than ever—time is money, and economy in labor the great need of the hour.

It will pay you to visit us and examine this car

The haulage cost is unusually low

CAN BUY A BARREL

This Much Flour For Average Sized Family Not Considered Excessive, Food Administration Says.

Now that flour is beginning to arrive in Maine in large quantities and shipments in barrels are coming forward, it is considered no longer necessary to limit consumers to 60 days' supply. This announcement is made by the Food Administration.

One barrel flour to the average-sized family will not be regarded as an excessive supply. It is most important that every economy be exercised in the use of wheat flour that America may keep the supply flowing to the army and fulfill our pledge to the Allies. We must maintain the health and strength of every human being among them or they will be unable to put their full strength alongside our own in the supreme effort. At the President's direction, Mr. Hoover has assured the Allies that "in this common cause, we eat at a common table." We promised them that whatever their food-program called for from us we should fulfill.

It is requested that flour should be purchased in moderation, yet in quantities consistent with economy of delivery so as to make it no longer necessary for dealers to break original mill packages.

THE COUNTRY'S APPLE CROP

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young — to do this you must watch your liver and bowels — there's no need of having a sallow complexion — dark rings under your eyes — pimples — a bilious look in your face — dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

In Social Circles

The marriage of Miss Anna West Cobb and Dr. Edward Holmes Wiswall of Wellesley, Mass., will take place tomorrow, owing to the recent death of the bridegroom's father, the ceremony will be a very quiet one with only the members of the families as Mr. and Mrs. Washington R. Prescott and Mrs. J. Hooper Prescott of Providence came to this city yesterday with the remains of Hooper Prescott, who died suddenly last Saturday.

Leon I. Peabody returned to his home in Medford, Mass., Monday, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. A. J. Peabody, who will spend the winter in Massachusetts.

Fred S. Packard, officer on American transport, is home on a short leave of absence after completing his seventh trip across the ocean. The transports said to have had quite a lively time with a submarine on its homeward voyage, but the American craft is heavily armed and the undersigned was glad to give up the contest after an hour's engagement. Mr. Packard spent a pleasant hour with Lieut. M. J. O'Connor in France, and returning to the United States had the pleasure of Lieut. Charles Kallio's company in New York.

Mrs. C. M. Thomas returned last week from Bath where she had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Robert McMillan.

Albert Grant, who has been on an American warship in European waters most of the time, left Rockland with the Naval Militia early in the morning on a 10-day furlough. His ship has done a little more than its bit, having sunk four U-boats. Young Grant, who was formerly bellboy at the Thorndike Hotel, makes a natty looking sailor but is very modest about his own share in the big affairs over there.

Arion Koritzky has been home from Isle of Pines, Cuba, for a few days, the guest of his father, A. Koritzky.

Riley Strout, who has been quite seriously ill with pneumonia in Bath, is at his home in this city recuperating.

Lawrence Hamlin, who has been critically ill in Southern hospitals, arrived home yesterday on a 15-day furlough. He formerly served on one of the Coast Patrol boats at this port. He has quite fully recovered from his long siege of illness and has regained much of his rugged strength.

Peter O'Neill, who was operated upon some weeks ago, a stone being removed from one of his kidneys, is able to be out again, and will endeavor to put back some of the 30 or more pounds which he lost.

Lieut. Robert King was the guest of Sunday of his sister, Mrs. Glenn A. Lawrence. Mrs. King accompanied him from Ellsworth and is still the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence.

Clarence H. Shaw, who was crushed beneath an overturned tractor at Union three weeks ago, has so far recovered that he was discharged from Knox Hospital yesterday and has returned to his home.

Fred O. Bartlett, Jr., arrived yesterday called by the death of his mother, Mr. and Mrs. Lucian A. Thomas and little son, of Biddeford, N. J., and the guests of Mr. Thomas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Thomas, Spruce street.

Mrs. A. E. Scott, who enlisted as a nurse in the Home Defense department, was called to Bath by Adjutant General Presson and is now serving in the midst of the epidemic, which laid a heavy hand on that city. Later reports are that the conditions there are improving.

Letter Carrier Maurice Wilson is confined to his home by the prevailing sickness.

Mrs. Lena Daggett and son Ralph, and Miss Rose Putnam of Worcester, Mass., spent the weekend at Mrs. Daggett's former home in this city. Upon their return in Mr. Daggett's motor car they were accompanied by E. Clarke Walker, who will be their guest in Worcester, and who will also visit his daughter, Mrs. Tyler Bird in Dorchester, Mass.

Mrs. Joseph Hamlin who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, was reported yesterday as somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Emery are moving this week to Thomaston, where they will occupy the E. D. Carlton house on Main street. Mr. Emery is assistant cashier in the Thomaston National Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Spear left yesterday in their motor car for Eustis where they will spend eight or ten days in pursuit of big game.

William H. Harrington is critically ill at his home on Park street.

EMMELINE A. SPEAR

Miss Emmeline A. Spear, who died Oct. 7, at her home on North street, was the last member of the family of the late Capt. Archibald G. and Angellie Thompson Spear, a family prominent for a long period in the social and business life of our city, and some of whose members attained distinction in wide fields. The eldest daughter, Olivia, married the noted physician Dr. Alonzo P. Garcelon of Lewiston, who was Governor of Maine in 1888. Garcelon became the wife of United States Senator William P. Frye and was a worthy helpmate of that eminent statesman throughout his long and distinguished career. Julia married Ephraim D. Graves of Rockland, whose death occurred last summer. Judge William E. Spear, who died in Boston a few years ago, was a brilliant man and filled several public positions with marked honor and success. The survivors of the family are now represented in four nieces of the deceased.

Mrs. White of Lewiston, the mother of Congressman Wallace H. White, Jr., Mrs. Frank H. Briggs of Washington, D. C., Mrs. David Preston of Middleton, N. Y., and Miss Angelica S. Graves of this city.

Miss Spear possessed in marked degree the qualifications that distinguished all the family. In her earlier life she taught in the city's public schools. Her mind was cultivated by reading and study and broadened by travel. A joyous nature was enlivened by a native wit and drollery which accompanied her to the end and in a circle of friends that moved with her from girlhood into old age she was held in deep affection. Her life until the death of her parents was spent with them in the well-known family home at 255 Main street, after which she lived with her sister, Mrs. Graves. She was a member of the Universalist church in which she delighted to serve and whose pastor, Rev. Pliny A. Allen, officiated at the funeral. The bearers were A. Ross Weeks, Fred B. Spear, J. S. W. Burpee and H. O. Gurdy and the interment was in Achorn cemetery.

TO MAKE GAUZE MASKS

The Knox county Chapter of the American Red Cross gives the following instructions for making the gauze masks used while caring for influenza patients:

From gauze 36 inches wide cut 43 inches on the selvage. Divide into 4 strips 9 inches wide. Fold each strip into halves, then into thirds, making mask 6 thicknesses of gauze. Turn in raw edges and stitch all four sides to hold firm. Mask now measures 7 inches by 8 inches. Put in 3 pleats on 7 inch end and lower pleat deeper than other two, to allow room for chin. Pleated ends finished should be a little over 3 inches wide. Mask requires 4 pieces of 1/4 inch tape, 1/4 to 1/2 inches in width, sewed on to the four corners. Selvage need not be turned in.

LIFE CONVICT DIES

Louis Pulos, Who Tried To Escape Last Summer, Victim of Tuberculosis.

Louis Pulos, who escaped from the State Prison last July and was recaptured a few days later in East Union, died Sunday morning of tuberculosis. His nearest relative, a cousin who lives in Lowell, Mass., was notified. Pulos was arrested together with another Portland Greek, Peter Valis, Dec. 16, 1915, after Special Officer Charles E. Melosh of the Portland police department and Edward E. Winslow, station agent for the Maine Central Railroad at West Falmouth, had been shot and killed. Both were convicted of murder Jan. 29, 1916, and received life sentences. They were committed to the State Prison two days later.

Pulos soon developed such pronounced symptoms of tuberculosis that he was given a tent in the prison yard, and lived in the open air. With a strength which he was not supposed to possess he one day scaled the prison wall, and made his way as far as Union where his strength gave out, and where he was detained until the officers arrived.

YOUNG NOT DISCHARGED

Rockland Man Pleaded Guilty To Not Registering and Was Held For December District Court.

An erroneous item in Friday's issue stated that Wilbur Young, who was arrested by the federal officials for "willfully refusing to register" had been discharged. The Courier-Gazette's item was based on misinformation. The facts in the case are thus told by the Portland Argus:

Moses Wilbur Young, aged 45 years, who lives with his father on a small farm outside of Rockland, experienced his first ride in the "steam cars" when he was brought to this city under arrest by Deputy U. S. Marshal Harmon. Upon arrival here the man was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Chapman, charged with failure to register under the selective draft on Aug. 30th. Fred M. Blackington and M. E. Flanders of the exemption board for Knox county, testified that Young has not registered.

Commissioner Chapman explained to Young the requirements for registration and other phases of the regulations with which the man appeared to be unfamiliar. He then entered a plea of guilty and was held under $800 bonds for his appearance at the December term of the U. S. District court. He seemed to be somewhat doubtful regarding his proper name. He claimed he is Moses W. He never knew what the middle name is, although he told of always answering to the name of Wilbur.

IN FLANDERS' FIELDS

By Col. John F. McCrae; died at Boulogne, Jan. 28, 1918

In Flanders' fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky,
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead; short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from failing hands, we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders' fields.
